How National Adaptation Plan Processes Can Be Leveraged for Implementation of the Paris Agreement

When: 15:00–16:30, Tuesday, December 3

Where: Room 1

Organizers: Government of Grenada; International Institute for Sustainable Development

Description: This event will focus on how developing countries' NAP processes can be leveraged to address multiple commitments under the Paris Agreement, including NDC enhancement and Adaptation Communications. Links to other parts of the 2030 agenda will also be explored.

What are the do's and don'ts of exercising climate justice?

When: 11:15–12:15, Tuesday, December 3

Where: IASS Co-Creative Reflection & Dialogue Space, WWF Pavilion

Organizers: IASS, NAP Global Network

Description: The concept of climate change adaptation is intrinsically about justice, but in reality the act of operationalising adaptation can often lead to sacrificing this fundamental principle. We will explore from a practical perspective what can help bring justice, truly, to the centre of adaptation efforts.

Subnational Adaptation: Promoting vertical integration in the context of the NAP Process

When: 10:30–12:00, Wednesday, December 4

Where: Helsinki Room

Organizers: United Nations Capital Development Fund (UNCDF) in cooperation with the International Institute for Sustainable Development (IISD), through the NAP Global Network, and the World Resources Institute (WRI)

Description: This session aims to discuss and share experiences and lessons learned on vertical integration, focusing on innovative mechanisms that enhance the effectiveness of adaptation finance in reducing vulnerability—including strengthening transparency and responsiveness of donor funding, strengthening ownership and participation of local communities, building the capacity of local stakeholders and of local financial structures to manage finance and deliver adaptation results, addressing issues of equity (in particular the gender dimension) and incentivizing the private sector to invest in adaptation locally.

Capacity-building Knowledge to Action Days: Key messages & next steps

When: 9:00–11:00, Friday, December 6

Where: Capacity-building Hub

Organizers: UN Climate Change, International Development Research Center (IDRC), United Nations University, Institute for Environment and Human Security (UNU-EHS), Stockholm Environment Institute (SEI), NAP Global Network, UN Environment, UN Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific (UNESCAP)

Description: This event will present the results from Capacity-building Knowledge to Action Days at the Latin American and Caribbean Climate Week and the Asian Pacific Climate Week.

What is gender-responsive adaptation really about?

When: 15:00–16:00, Friday, December 6

Where: Action Hub

Organizers: NAP Global Network

Description: In this session, the International Institute for Sustainable Development will create a lively debate between two experts on a critical issue related to gender-responsive adaptation, followed by an interactive discussion with the audience. The audience will decide on the winner based on what they consider to be the best arguments. Following the debate, the audience will be asked to share their views and will also be invited to ask questions to the experts.

National Visions for Adaptation Action: Lessons from Ghana, Botswana and Nigeria

When: 9:00–10:00, Saturday, December 7

Where: NDC Partnership Pavilion

Organizers: NAP Global Network Secretariat, the International Institute for Sustainable Development

Description: Many countries in the earlier stages of their National Adaptation Plan processes are choosing to develop NAP Frameworks—a strategic document that outlines the vision and structure for the NAP process, articulating why it is important and how it complements other elements of the climate and development policy suite in the country. This event will share country experiences from Botswana, Ghana and Nigeria with developing NAP frameworks, focusing on how these have advanced adaptation planning processes and set the stage for effective adaptation planning and implementation.

Comprehensive Risk Management: Progress and implementation in Latin America

When: 15:00–17:00, Saturday, December 7

Where: German Pavilion

Organizers: Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) / Deutsche Gesellschaft für internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ)

Description: The event will illustrate the German comprehensive risk management approach, which brings together strategies and measures to reduce disaster and climate risks by combining instruments from the fields of climate change mitigation, climate change adaptation (CCA), disaster risk management (DRM) and social protection into a single holistic approach. The event aims to showcase highlights on the status quo of comprehensive risk management in Latin American countries. Remaining gaps and needs will be identified, and opportunities for replication of good practices in different Latin American countries discussed.

Development and Climate Days
